

LIABILITY WAIVER FOR INTERNATIONAL HEALTH CERTIFICATES

If you as the client elect to have an international health certificate issued by Animal Ark Animal Hospital without the use of a third party specializing in coordinating the many requirements (specific to each country), you will assume any liability for failure of the country to accept the certificate.

We will do our best to assure that your pet will be accepted into the country. However, many countries do alter the requirements which may not be readily available on the USDA website at the time of the exam and writing of the health certificate. This may delay or cause a rejection of the health certificate.

Timing of the certificate requirements is crucial as many countries mandate that testing for the absence of disease be performed, vaccine titers be sufficient, or parasite control be administered. These often vary depending on the country. Some countries have testing that must be performed as far as 6 months from the time of issuance of the health certificate.

We strongly recommend that you utilize the third-party health certificate companies that often assist in making sure all requirements are met as they stay informed with the individual country mandates for importation of pets.

By signing this document, you assume full responsibility and liability should failure of the international health certificate occur. You also understand that any failure of acceptance of the international health certificate may result in repeated testing or medication thus further expense. Animal Ark will not be responsible for any failure of compliance with the importing country for the issuance of an international health certificate.
